Report on AIDS Day Awareness Camp

On 1st December 2018, the Health Care Cell of Katahguri College, in collaboration with IQAC, organized an awareness camp for AIDS Day in the adopted village Tuktuki. Villagers gathered at the camp, where our cell convenor delivered a detailed presentation on AIDS. The session covered the disease, its symptoms, signs, differences between HIV and AIDS, and other relevant information. The camp successfully raised awareness among the villagers, enhancing their understanding of HIV/AIDS and promoting preventive measures. This initiative significantly contributed to the community's health education and empowerment.

Outcome: Increased awareness about HIV/AIDS among villagers, leading to better prevention and health practices.

School Adoption:

The Village Adoption Committee of Katahguri College has adopted three schools from the village of Tuktuki. The teachers of the college have been actively taking classes and supporting various activities at these schools. As a result of their efforts, the schools have been awarded A and A+ grades in the state-level assessment.

Outcome for Community and Students:

The adoption of three schools in Tuktuki village by the Village Adoption Committee of Katahguri College has yielded significant positive outcomes for both the community and students. For the community, the initiative has elevated the quality of education, demonstrated by the schools achieving A and A+ grades in state-level assessments. This improvement reflects a better educational environment and increased opportunities for students in the village, fostering community pride and cohesion.

For the students, the involvement of college teachers in their education has provided them with enhanced learning experiences and access to quality teaching. This support has not only improved their academic performance but also inspired them to pursue higher educational goals. The initiative has promoted a culture of excellence and motivation among the students, encouraging them to aim higher in their academic and personal lives. Additionally, it has strengthened the bond between the college and the local community, creating a collaborative and supportive educational network

ANTI-TOBACCO DAY 31ST MAY, 2019

The Health Care Cell of Katahguri College organized an awareness program on "Anti-Tobacco Day" in its adopted village, Tuktuki, on 31st May 2019. The program aimed to educate the community about the risks associated with tobacco consumption and its detrimental effects on families. Tobacco use is one of the leading causes of various types of cancer.

Outcome for Community and Students:

The Anti-Tobacco Day awareness program organized by the Health Care Cell of Katahguri College had a profound impact on both the community and students. For the community, the program raised awareness about the severe health risks linked to tobacco use, including its role in causing various types of cancer. It encouraged community members to reconsider and reduce their tobacco consumption, ultimately promoting healthier lifestyles and stronger family well-being.

For students, the program provided valuable information about the dangers of tobacco, equipping them with knowledge to make informed decisions and adopt healthier habits. The initiative also instilled a sense of social responsibility among students, inspiring them to become advocates for health and wellness within their own communities. This collaborative effort between the college and the village underscored the importance of preventive health measures and reinforced the college's commitment to community service and public health education.
